President Raps New Railroad Strike Call

STATEMENT ON PLANS IS SLATED LATER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—President Truman declared today the nationwide railroad strike was called within an hour after assurances to him that there would be no strike.

He made it plain to a news conference that he felt he had not been dealt with fairly.

As to what he intends to do, he said he would have a statement later. He refused to indicate whether he plans seizure. The unions have been urging this step for weeks.

Truman said the strike was sudden and unexpected. He said assurances came to him from both the unions and the management that there would be no walkout. These assurances, he said, were given within an hour before the strike was called by the trainmen and conductors.

They set the walkout for 6 a. m. (local stardard time) next Monday.

A reporter asked Truman who gave him the assurance there would be no strike.

The railroad unions and the railroad managers—both, the President said emphatically. He said they had given him that assurance frequently within the last two or three days, and within an hour before the strike was called.

A reporter asked if he considered the tactics a "double cross."

Truman told the reporter not to put words into his mouth.

A union spokesman had this comment on President Truman's news conference remarks:

"We would ask that it be noted the strike has been set far enough in advance to provide opportunity to clear this thing up, if the President cares to call in the presidents of these roads in place of the (management) committee which has been stalling all these months.

"Secondly, if the President decides he will seize the railroads, the two presidents of the unions are remaining in Washington to co-operate in any way possible."

Gossett Hopeful Tidelands Bill To Pass In '51

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—(AP)—Rep. Gossett (D-Tex), a house leader in the fight for state ownership of lands beneath the marginal seas, said today he will press for legislative action on the matter early next year.

"There obviously is little or no chance now that anything will be done this year," he told a reporter.

"Therefore, soon after the new session starts next year, I will urge immediate consideration of a state-ownership bill in the house. I think we can pass it over a presidential veto, if necessary."

Gossett is a member of the house judiciary committee. This group several months ago approved a bill to give the states control over the so-called tidelands.

He said this legislation should be given prompt approval by the committee again early next year without holding a hearing.

The Texan also said he thinks there is virtually no chance for passage this year of interim legislation relating to control of the submerged lands until congress or the Supreme Court finally settle the long-standing dispute between the states and the government over ownership of the areas.

The states oppose the pending senate resolution which would give

Malik Is Successfully Delaying Any UN Action

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Russia's Jakob A. Malik today headed into the fourth and final week of his Security Council presidency, apparently dedicated—and successfully—to stalling decisive council action on the Korean war.

In the three weeks since he ended the Russian boycott to head the council, Malik has trumpeted the Soviet propaganda line at length.

The West has replied with similarly long speeches, but many observers wonder which has made the more telling effect on the Asian mind—the ultimate prize in the current UN war of words.

Malik's delaying strategy has consisted mainly of presenting proposals to the council that obviously would be knocked down, or in stalling off action on Western proposals.

The procedural wrangle has revolved mainly around the council's decision of last June to invite South Korea's representative to join in discussion of Korean questions.

Malik has refused either to seat the representative or to make a rule denying him a seat.

He has countered with two proposals, one to order a cease-fire and withdrawal of all foreign troops—meaning U.S. forces—and to seat both North Korean and Red Chinese representatives in the council to discuss a peace settlement.

If that were done, Malik said, he

Truman Names UN Delegation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—President Truman today announced a United Nations delegation made up of three Republicans and two Democrats.

The lineup:

Republicans: Former Senator Warren Austin, Senator Lodge (Mass) and John Foster Dulles, GOP foreign policy adviser.

Democrats: Senator Sparkman (Ala) and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

The delegation will serve at the general assembly session this fall.

Truman made his announcement at a news conference. He said the two senators were picked after consultation with the senate foreign relations committee.

Secretary of State Acheson probably will head the delegation for the opening of the assembly session, with one of the permanent delegates serving briefly as an alternate. Other alternates are expected to include John Ross, aide to Austin; John Sherman Cooper, Republican adviser to Acheson; Benjamin Cohen, now on the delegation; and Mrs. Edith Sampson, Chicago negro lawyer.

Shooting Orders Given To British

HONG KONG, Aug. 24—(AP)—On the eve of their departure for the Korean war front, British troops today were told to "shoot quick, shoot straight and shoot to kill." This advice came from Gen. Sir John Harding, British commander in the Far East, during a last minute troop inspection. They are scheduled to sail Friday.

House Expects To Finally Pass Measure Friday

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, Aug 24—(AP)—A $16,771,084,479 bill providing cash for 5,333 new war planes and other equipment for America's growing military machine was approved today by the house appropriations committee.

An emergency measure growing out of the war in Korea, it not only finances expansion of United States armed might but also carries $4,000,000,000 to help arm friendly nations.

In sending the bill to the house floor, the committee wrote this sharp criticism of the defense program:

"Events of recent weeks have made it crystal clear that the military planning and thinking in key positions is not as clear and accurate as could be desired, but it is not the purpose of the committee at this time to criticize past errors of judgeemnt."

The bill's total is $81,400,119 less than the President requested but no reductions were made in military items.

In approving the entire $4,000,000,000 requested for foreign arms aid, the committee said:

"The authority of the United Nations has been challenged and

Peak Of Polio Believed Nearing Over Country

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The spread of poliomyelitis is slowign down and may be near the peak for the year.

That word came today from the Public Health Service in a report that 1,489 new cases were listed during the past week. Although this was three per cent more than the 1,442 of the week before, the agency said:

"This is the lowest percentage increase of the preceding week since the week ended May 27, the beginning of the upward weekly trend in reported cases."

During the corresponding week a year ago 3,416 new cases were reported. That was the peak week of 1949, the worst polio year on record.

The cumulative total since polio started increasing this year is 9,007 cases, compared with 16,27 the same period last year.

Heavy Vote Is Due Saturday In Run-Off Primary

Delivery of election boxes and supplies to the 46 Democratic precinct chairmen of Navarro county began at the office of J. Vernon Harwell, county clerk, Thursday.

Russia Expands Training Camps For Reich Units

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 24—(AP)—Allied officials reported today that training camps for Russia's Elite East German Army have been increased from 11 to 50 in less than six months.

This vast expansion indicates the Russians intend to build a huge ned "Red Wehrmacht" around this Communist armed force, the officials declared.

This East German force of 50,000 men has been trained as a cadre for a larger German army taking orders from Russia, they said. The officials gave this assessment of developments:

The dark-uniformed, jack-booted force could easily be expanded to 150,000 men, perhaps in a matter of weeks, with the increase in training facilities.

A recent Allied assessment of Russian military power in Europe underscores the belief of military experts that the Russians could sweep to the Atlantic coast if they decided to launch an attack. But there are no indications of an imminent assault from the East.

This is what late official reports from the inside Red Germany show:

The Russians have 270,000 troops there. Previous estimates had ranged from 200,000 to 300,000. Supporting this force is the highly-trained East German Army of 50,000 men. This gives the Soviets a total of 320,000 men ready for combat in Germany.

Backing up this force are some 500,000 hardened Russian troops in Austria, Poland and the Balkans.

Sobell Is Held On $100,000 Bail On A-Spy Charge

NEW YORK, Aug. 24—(AP)—Morton Sobell, 33-year-old radar expert accused of spying for Russia, was held in $100,000 bail today on espionage conspiracy charge. A hearing was set for Sept. 18.

Sobell was arrested last week by Mexican authorities in Mexico City and was turned over to FBI agents in Laredo, Texas, Friday. He was brought from Houston by plane on Wednesday night.

At his arraignment Sobell said he had "not yet" obtained a lawyer.

Commissioner McDonald told Sobell that in the absence of an atorney he would not be required to say anything in court.

The radar expert stood quietly, betraying no emotion, as Saypol read a copy of the complaint which accuses the defendant of passing American defense secrets to Aussia.

The secrets, the complaint said, consisted of "documents, writing, sketches, notes and information relating to national defense."

Dawson Flyer Escapes Injury

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Auf. 24—(AP)—Second Lt. Wilmer White, 23, of Dawson, Texas, escaped injury when his F-86 jet fighter plane crashed Wednesday. White, from Kirkland Air Force Base, was attempting an emergency landing at Goodfellow Air Force Base when his plane crashed into the rear of a house near the field. No one was in the house.

Reds Warn U. S. To Quit Formosa

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 25—(AP)—The Chinese Communists today demanded that the United Nations order withdrawal of all American forces from Formosa and announced the Red intention to "liberate" that island from the Nationalists.

The announcement by the Peiping radio was heard by the Associated Press in Tokyo. It said the demand for American withdrawal was sent by Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai to the UN Security Council and Secretary General Trygve Lie.

The United States has no armed forces on Formosa, last major redoubt of the Chinese Nationalists, but the U. S. seventh fleet is patrolling the Formoso strait to prevent an often-threatened Red attack.

"The people of China cannot tolerate the action of armed aggression by the United States Government on the territory of China," the radio quoted Chou's message to the UN.

It went on to cite the presence of the seventh fleet and of some American air force contingents on Formosa.

Chou charged that the American presence was "an open encroachment on the territory of the people's Republic of China" (the official name of the Red regime).

He asserted it was direct armed aggression and was a total violation of the UN Charter.

Chou demanded that the security council condemn the U. S. Government "for its criminal act—and take immediate measures to bring about the complete withdrawal of all United States invading forces from Taiwan (Formosa) and from other territories belonging to China."

Truman Denies Sawyer Wants Control Powers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—(AP)—President Truman today denounced as absolutely without foundation published reports that Secretary of Commerce Sawyer had lobbied for authority to handle priorities and controls.

Truamn told his news conference that Sawyer is in complete agreement with what the President asked for.

Truman made this assertion when a reporter called his attention to reports that Sawyer was trying to get the authority, rather than have it go to Chairman W. Stuart Symington of the National Security Resources board.

The reporter did not say who had published the report but columnist Marquis Childs wrote today that Sawyer and his friends had been working quietly to make certain final power would rest in Sawyer's department.

Truman declined comment on the economic controls bill before a senate-house conference committee.

Work Of Texans Noted In Korea

TOKYO, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The U. S. Far East Air Force told of the work of two Texans today as both fighters and bombers pounded military-industrial installations, secondary marshalling yards and key railroad bridges north of the 38th parallel in Korea.

Capt. Harry H. Hermann, Gainesville, Texas, who piloted an F-80 jet fighter, reported that a number of enemy troops were located on a hill west of Masan. "We expended all our rockets and ammunition into the concentration," he said. He added that his flight knocked out a radio position on the hill with rockets.

B-26 light bombers continued the around the clock attacks. Capt. Ben Crosby of El Paso, returned late today from a mission to Tanyang, northwest of Andong, with the report that one span had been blasted from a railroad bridge.

DONNELLY MOVED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—(AP)—President Truman today named Walter J. Donnelly as minister and high commissioner for Austria. Donnelly is now ambassador to Venezuela. Truman's nnouncement of Donnelly's new assignment was made at a news conference attended by a group of Austrian newspapermen, whom the President welcomed to Washington.

GI Allowance Bill Is Quickly Passed In House

WASHINGTON, Aug 24—(AP)—The house today passed a bill to give monthly allowances of $45 to $85 to enlisted men in the military services to help them care for their families.

These allowances are in addition to their pay. The roll call was 359 to 0.

The bill provides a $70 a month allowance to all enlisted men, regardless of grade, having two dependents—a wife and one child, for example.

An enlisted man with three or more dependents would get $85 monthly.

If the enlisted man is in the three lower grades, he will have to allow $40 from his nay-check—

Trieste Another Weak Sector In Anti-Red Lines

By JAMES M. LONG

TRIESTE, Aug. 24—(AP)—Ten thousand British and American troops are ready here if Communism's next armed blow falls on neighboring Yugoslavia.

Garrisoning this allied guarded free territory on the Yugoslav-Italian border, they are "combat ready" in training and equipment. But they sit on a spot too tight to hold—and backed by an Italian army probably still too weak to help.

Their chief bulwark is the opinion—held by American military observers here and in Rome—that the Yugoslav army would be a tough nut for other Communist states to crack.

Probably no one outside the Kremlin knows if such an invasion blow is scheduled for Yugoslav Marshal Tito's tough little anti-Stalin Communist state.

But if such a Red move should come, most observers think the Anglo-American forces here would be reinforced quickly and ordered into the fight. U. S. action in Korea is an example.

Well-qualified opinion here holds that Tito's troops are equal to or better than anything that any one or two of the surrounding Soviet satellite powers could muster for an attack.

But hit by them all—Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania—and by strong Soviet support, Yugoslavia would need help.

This thin strin of allied-guarded free territory is five miles deep and

MASSED DIVISIONS BEFORE TAEGU SLACKEN PRESSURE, SOME VEER TOWARD EAST

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 25—(AP)—A heavily armed Red division rolled eastward Thursday night toward American positions on the Korean south coast.

In three columns of men and machines the division moved up a new threat to the all-important allied southeastern port of Pusan some 50 miles away.

The threat appeared in the south after pressure had eased on the central front above Tagu where probers for five Red divisions were thrown back for five consecutive days.

The 50,000 Red soldiers a dozen miles north of Taegu slanted away from their mountain positions, apparently looking for an easier avenue for a smash on Taegu.

The north Koreans tried four times last week to drive five divisions down the rocky, bloody "bowling alley" corridor to Taegu.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton on the south reported the three eastbound Red columns were marching from the Chinju area, where two Red divisions were reported getting ready to drive on allied forces spread before Masan, 27 air miles west of Pusan.

The American 25th Infantry Division 10 miles west of Masan, was alerted for battle.

U. S. planes bombed and strafed the approaching southern Reds. Pilots said there were many vehicles in the three columns. But the Communists were moving in small groups to minimize their chances of being hit from the air.

The new force was reported a part of the North Korean Seventh Division, a division originally trained for police purposes.

On the Masan front American and South Korean riflemen fought shoulder to shoulder in a bitter old battle for commanding heights of Sobuk Ridge, 10 miles from Masan port.

The sudden, unexplained shift of North Korean troops north of Taegu left their mountain positions to allied troops 19 miles north of the fortres city. Before settling in them Thursday night U. S. and South Korean infantrymen beat off flanking attacks.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead on the central front quoted Col. John (Mike) Michaelis, commander of the U. S. 27th "Wolfhound" regiment before Taegu, as saying:

"We will stay here but it will be rough."

Senate Expects Military Training Bill Next Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Senator Tydings (D-Md.) predicted today the Senate will get a chance to vote on universal military training (UMT) within two weeks. Prospects for House action are bleak.

Tydings told a reporter he thinks the Senate Armed Services committee, which he heads, will approve a bill next week. He said he will move to bring it before the Senate the following week. Another Democratic leader said this fits administration plans.

Military leaders have said manpower demands of the Korean fighting will prevent any early start on universal training of young men. The bill before Tydings' committee would authorize the President to say when it should start.

In another form, these same manpower demands were said to be delaying moves to integrate ground troops from other nations into the Korean defense line, now being held by Americans and South Koreans.

Massed Troops Main Targets Of Roving Airmen

TOKYO, Aug. 24.—(AP)—U. S. Marine airmen said today they killed 300 North Korean Reds in a rocket and strafing attack on heavy troop concentrations facing Taegu.

The enemy force, caught eight miles west of Taegu, at Songju, was one of 16 North Korea troop concentrations riddled by carrier-borne Marine pilots, the navy said in a Thursday night release.

F-80 jets Thursday concentrated on troop concentrations southwest of Masan on the southern front.

Enemy troops were the No. 1 target of fighter-bombers Wednesday when 559 sorties were flown by United Nations airmen. B-29s again hit traffic facilities in the rear.

The main B-29 target was one of the largest chemical complexes in East Asia, at Konan. They dropped 290 thousand-pound bombs. spokesman called it a "mop-up operation to neutralize every vestige of this important target."

The B-29s encountered no opposition.

South Koreans Think Gen. Dean Dead And Buried

By O. H. P. KING

TOKYO, Aug. 24—(AP)—There is a conviction among some South Koreans that Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, missing ex-commander of the U. S. 24th division, died of battle wounds and was buried by friendly South Koreans.

There is no official confirmation that General Dean is dead. He is still listed by headquarters as missing in action since July 22 in the battle of Taejon.

An unconfrmed story circulating among South Koreans, which I heard repeatedly before returning recently from Korea to Tokyo, ran like this:

The general was wounded after escaping from flaming Taejon. A South Korean family gave him shelter and tried to nurse him back to health. But he died and was buried by his friends. They said nothing about it for fear of punishment by North Korean Reds who occupy the area.

It was felt that if the North Koreans had captured the general, they would have boasted about it over their Pyongyang radio, as they have boasted of the capture of many Americans of lesser rank.

Russia Believed Preparing East Zone For Korea-Type 'Civil War' Quickly

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—(AP)—Soviet Russia is believed here to be pushing ahead well-laid plans for the political and military development of eastern Germany while western leaders negotiate on strengthening the defenses of their sector.

Informed diplomats said today there is now elvdence that the Soviets have split their so-called "police force" in Germany into two organizations—one being trained in actual police work and the other being given regular army training and armored equipment without further pretense of "police" activity.

Since Germany, like Korea, is a divided nation, there is top-level speculation that the aim of this Soviet move may be an ultimate Korea-type assault; that is, an action by native Communist troops against the western occupation zones with unification of the country as a fighting slogan.

If this is to be the Russian pattern—and assuming the Kremlin would risk starting a major war— experts here expect Moscow will first undertake to give eastern Germany a pretense of legal independence comparable to that of Communist North Korea.

Two moves would be necessary to do this.

First, the Russians would have to conclude some sort of peace treaty with the east German Communist regime. Second, they would have to withdraw their occupation forces.

They would then be in position to give orders through Communist party channels while disclaiming responsibility for the actions of their puppets. Also, their troops would be out of the way of any shooting.

Part of the answer to this threat, in the opinion of policy makers here, is to build up the native defenses of western Germany and to do so on a scale adequate to deal

Army Chief Scrapes Death In Quick Visit With Admiral To Korean Fronts

TOKYO, Aug. 24—(AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, U. S. Army chief of staff, scraped close with death on a flying visit to Korean warfronts Wednesday, but came back optimistic.

He missed a raking of Red Korean roadblock fire by 15 minutes near Taegu. On his return to Tokyo Collins said: "Things are coming along very well over there."

He said he was well pleased with morale among American and South Korean forces.

Collins and Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, U. S. chief of naval operations, flew to Korea in separate planes. They were met by Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the U. S. Eighth army.

Collins visited the northern front above Taegu and the 25th division on the southwest sector. He told the 25th:

"I came to see what we can send over here. There is no question about it, our mediums (Sherman tanks) are knocking over the enemy's (Russian-made) T-24s. The mediums have done very, very well.

"The Eighth army is doing a grand job. I never had any doubt that we could hold a considerable bridgehead."

He added "There is no way to get tough troops except in war."

Walker and Collins together visited an advanced command post of the U. S. 27th regiment north of Taegu. They went within a mile of America's most forward positions.

About 15 minutes after they left the command post, the road their six-jeep convoy traveled came under fire of infiltrating Reds.

Four Aemrican officers were killed and several wounded. Col. John (Mike) Michaels, 27th Regiment comander, commented:

"They never will believe it but 15 minutes after the general left

Emhouse Soldier Cited In Korea

An Emhouse army sergeant, Arlee J. Thompson, has been awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in the Korean campaign near Taejon.

The son of Mrs. John Thompson of Emhouse, the 33-year-old veteran of World War II—in the army for 16 years—won the award for heroic achievements on July 20. His squad was covering the withdrawal of a company during an enemy attack.

"His position was under intense enemy artillery and automatic weapon fire," the citation said. "Under his cool and calm leadership, he kept his squad in position and fired on the enemy until their ammunition was exhausted, and the remainder of the company had made their withdrawal. He then withdrew the squad and rejoined his company without suffering any casualties."

Sgt. Thompson is the husband of Mrs. Allie Sue Thompson of Emhouse. She is stationed at the Osaka General Hospital in Osaka, Japan, where she is on duty as a nurse.

The Emhouse soldier fought in France and Germany in World War II.

Corsicana Purchasers Knew Long Ago That Food Prices Were Up Sharply

An Associated Press story released Wednesday stated soaring food prices have skyrocketed the government's cost-of-living index to the highest level in almost two years. An idea of just how much food prices have increased can be made by comparing a few prices listed for June 29 and for Thursday, Aug. 24, and between June 29 and July 20.

Chain store advertisements were checked in this survey and articles of the same size, quality and quantity were used as a basis.

Price increases were noted in all departments. It would be impossible to list all the increased prices and so a few follow:

Article	6-29	7-20	8-24
Bologna	45c	47c	59c
Dog Food		25c	27c
Canned Milk		11c	11½
Ice-packed fryers	55c		65c
Chopped Ham		49c	52c
Vienna Sausage		18c	19c
Coffee	67c		74c
Lettuce	10c		13c
Beans	13c		15c
Ground Beef	49c		59c
Powdered Soap	25c		29c
Bread	20c		21c
Milk	19c		22c
Shoulder Ham	44c		49c
No. 3 Bacon	37c		61c
Center cut Pork Ch.	55c		89c
Round Steak	97c		99c
Shoulder Roast	59c		67c
Canned Corn	10c		11c
Potatoes	5c		6c
Mayonnaise	32c		37c

By comparing the above figures it's not hard to see why government agencies finally admitted prices have risen.

Besides the articles mentioned above, many more have felt the imprint of the mark-up.

Anyone can make a round of the stores and notice the number of price changes marked on cartons and cans. Very few are downward.

Apparently to save customers from having heart failure, some stores have abadoned the practice of just adding the new price. The old prices are either erased or rubbed off.

But this doesn't ease the pressure on the blood vessels or the pocketbook.

One doesn't have to actually see the increases marked on the articles. Every shopper knows food prices are up.

As one customer said "a few years ago I had to have help to carry out $10 worth of groceries—today I can carry that much in one hand while I'm feeling in my pocketbook for extra cash to pay the bill with the other."

War 2 Officers Subject To Call

WASHINGTON ,Aug. 24.—(AP)—The army says it could—but does not plan —to call back to service most of the commissioned officers mustered out of uniform after the shooting stopped in World War II.

The judge advocate general, chief legal officer of the army, has advised the great majority of officers are subject to recall until peace agreements have been made with Germany, Japan and Italy—and for six months thereafter.

The army, however, said it does not intend to recall them.

would also admit the South Korean.

The other Russian proposal was to have the council denounce what both Malik and North Korean authorities called the "barbarous, monstrous" bombings of North Korean towns by U. S. planes.

Council members have indicated clearly that the majority would vote down both Malik's proposals.

The first day he assumed the presidency Malik, by an 8-3 vote, lost an attempt to rule that the Chinese Nationalists were not the proper representaetives of China. Since then the delegates have battled futilely, and spoken at length, but with no concrete action on the war.

Malik on his side has stated he would veto the U. S. proposal of last month calling for the council to follow up its cease-fire and withdrawal order to the Red Koreans by denouncing them for continued UN defiance, and calling on all nations to refrain from aiding them.

No one hopes for action on any of the three proposals until Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb takes the chair Sept. 1 and restores the council to the normal procedure which Malik has blocked.

Nor does anyone—outside the Russian delegation—seem to know if Malik will be on hand for council meetings when Jebb takes the chair, or if the Russian will resume his boycott.

Stymied on achieving anything concrete over the past month, both Russia and the West have indulged in a propaganda duel involving the whole Asiatic question.

Each side has accused the other of aggression in Korea, and each side has denied the charges.

The council meets Friday and once or twice next week, but little is expected to be accomplished.

If Malik stays in the council after Sept. 1, he can beat the U. S. proposal with a veto. If he pulls out, anything the group orders will affect the North Koreans only as far as U. S. troops back up the council. The Korean Communists have been ignoring UN rulings for three years.

Health Director Says Rice Rumors All Groundless

What apparently is a smear campaign against the Corsicana-Navarro Health Unit and the State Department of Health has been started in the Rice area and an official of the local health unit said statements being made by these persons are baseless and without fact.

Rumors have reached Corsicana that the local and state health units are charging $25 to take samples and make tests of water wells in the Rice area.

Dr. Will Miller, acting director of the Corsicana-Navarro Health Unit, said there is no truth in the statement and that the local unit never has charged for the services it renders.

"This apparently is a campaign to injure the health unit," said Dr. Miller. "We have no cash register in our office. Where would be put the money if we did charge?"

Several Rice residents, disturbed over the arsenic found in a water well at a Rice cotton gin, have asked that their wells be tested.

Dr. Miller said this work was going on as fast as humanly possible.

ACCIDENT INVESTIGATED

An auto accident at the edge of Corsicana on U. S. 287 was investigated by the Highway Patrol Wednesday about 9:15 p. m.

Harvey McNeill, Corhicana, had swerved his vehicle to void hitting a parked car on the highway. In doing so, his car struck a bridge post. McNeill wasn't injured.

Some Businesses Voice Objections To Profits Levy

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(AP)—"If price and wage hikes are to be curbed, how about profits?"

That cry is raised again in the Senate, after businessmen had thought the excess profits tax proposal has been put off until next year.

But when Congress went beyond the President's request and offered his power to control prices and wages, the profits issue was revived. Now businessmen fear Congres might pile an exces profits tax upon the higher corporation income tax rates already in the tax bill.

Objections Offered.

No businessman has gone on record as objecting to curbing war profiteering. But many think there are better ways than by an excess profits tax.

Objectors to such a tax make these points:

1. There are no war profits yet—in fact, few war orders yet, and profits on these sould be rontrolled by renegotiation of contracts.

2. An excess profit tax kills incentive—plans put forward so far call for taking from 85 per cent to 100 per cent of all profits classed as in excess of "normal," killing the profit motive for producing more.

3. Such a tax encourages spending and waste—companies say, "why should we save money on our operations just to pay more taxes?"

4. The law in the last war was full of injustices, placing some companies in a much more favorable tax position than others. That is because of the way an excess profit is determined.

Two alternate ways are proposed, as in the last war: A Corporation's normal profit could be regarded as the average of its earnings in a base period, possibly the years of 1917 through 1949. Or, its invested capital could be taken as a base and a certain return on that investment allowed before an excess profit tax is applied.

Examples Cited.

Take the base of invested capital. The railroads (many of whose earnings have been relatively low in the last three years) have high invested capital and would fare relatively well.

But the natural gas pipeline companies might be hard hit. Under the law in the last war corporations could only use 50 per cent of their borrowed capital in figuring their investment for excess profits tax purposes. The pipeline companies, however, are still expanding at a great rate and are borrowing large sums to finance these facilities.

They are asking Congress to allow them to consider 100 per cent of such borrowed capital as their investment for tax purposes.

Farm Talk—

Cattle Buying Expert Will Grade Steers Here Saturday At Beef Show

By CLYDE JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff

Cattlemen and farmers who don't know much about grading—that all-important item in livestock prices—will get a few pointers at the FFA-4-H beef calf show at the Fairgrounds Saturday.

Grading the approximately 48 steers to be exhibated at the affair will be Leonard Afdahl, head buyer for Swift and Co., of Dallas.

The buyers purchase strictly according to grade—choice, good, medium and common—and this fact will be emphasized as Navarro county farm youths parade their projects before judges.

C. T. Parker, Panola county agent, will judge showmanship.

Judging of the steers is slated to start at 10 a. m. Saturday, Assistant County Agent Curtis Henderson reports. The program will be concluded by noon, but the stock will remain on exhibition during the afternoon, until 3 p. m.

FFA boys and 4-H boys and girls banded together recently to inaugurate the project—a preview to the county fair which opens Sept. 26.

Sandwiches and cold drinks will be available. Proceeds will go for expenses of the show, such as ribbons for the youths and hay for the calves. No cash prizes are awarded. The boys and girls are doing this out of interest and enthusiasm alone.

Navarro county cotton continues to open rapidly. Much of the late-planted cotton has not produced a full crop, and weevils continue to do damage. Infestation totals 26 per cent in this county.

NEWS BRIEFS—Farm land prices are going up again—2 per cent betwen March and July...The government will continue wheat price supports next year at 90 per cent of parity ($2.05 per bushel in Navarro county), and Navarro's grain sorghum support price will be $1.92 per hundred-weight.... Anaplamosis, a blood disease of cattle, is costing farmers $5,000,000 a year. Spread by insects and unsterilized surgical instruments, the disease already is hitting areas near Houston....A Rambouillet ram sold for $2,500 in Salt Lake City Tuesday—a record price... Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has assailed "gambling in food prices" and urges federal curbs on speculators.

FEEDING THE WORLD

Every people in the world, including the presumably well fed Americans, would change their diet if the world food goals of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization were realized. The experts on the organization staff are not concerned about how much Americans eat, but about what we eat. Their charts say that the average calory intake for Americans is satisfactory, but our diet contains too much sugar and fats, not enough fruit, vegetbles, meat, fish, eggs and milk.

The United Nations study finds a similar situation—enough calories but the wrong assortment of foods—in Oceania, three nations of South America, Scandinavia, the British Isles and surprisingly Russia and all of Europe except the southern segment of the continent. In all of the rest of the world the average daily food intake is less than the experts figure it should be, and nowhere is there a diet which is regarded as satisfactory. In almost all cases the diet is said to have enough or too much of carbohydrate foods, not enough of protein foods, which are generally more expensive.

Proposals to deal with the problem are as yet vague and sketchy, but one reassuring point has emerged. The Food and Agriculture Organization experts do not believe that the solution is to take food from those who have it and give to to those who lack it. They see the problem as the production of more food, and think that total world output can be doubled. The next problem would be to distribute the food. If that could be done on a paying basis, the United States might happily find itself relieved of its troublesome food surplus problems.

SECURE NATION

One country which can reasonably feel physically secure from Communist armed invasion is the Asiatic mountain state of Nepal. Northeast of India, it has Red-threatened Tibet as a neighbor, but draws confidence from the nature of the boundary, Between the two countries lie the Himalayas, the loftiest mountains in the world. There are only a few passes, and only two which are accessible at all seasons. These run from 12,000 to 16,000 feet high, higher than the tops of most American mountains. The passes are far too narrow to permit the passage of heavy military equipment, or large-scale movement.

No wonder that Nepal's director-general of foreign affairs, who has the mouth-filling name of Bijaya Shumshere Jung Bahadur Rana, is not worried about the future. He might also have in mind the splendid fighting record of Nepal's Gurkhas in Italy in the last war. American veterans who fought beside them will not soon forget them.

SAVING A RAILROAD

Railroad branches have been disappearing one by one through lack of patronage, often without more than a few people being excited about any particular case. Now the disease is spreading to larger units. Residents of central New York are dismayed at the prospect that the 594-mile-long New York, Ontario & Western, which runs from Weehawken, New Jersey, to Oswego, New York, may be discontinued. A committee of local business men, which has already enrolled several hundred members, is trying to secure more freight for the road.

Their efforts may be too late. The test will be whether the committee members are williing to send their own goods by the affected railroad even if truck transportation may be cheaper. It has already been demonstrated that suburban residents, trying to save passenger service from abolition, will do anything but ride on the road themselves. Most of them prefer to drive.

TAXING COLLEGE INCOME

In considering whether to tax the business earnings of educational and charitable institutions, Congress is entering a field where the lines of demarcation are very finely drawn. It would be a mistake to reach quick, broad conclusions without thoughtful regard for the fineness of the lines.

The question is whether a business enterprise owned or operated by one of these institutions, where the intent of the connection is essentially to provide a source of income for the institution, ought not be taxed like any privately owned or operated enterprise. The reason for wanting to tax these enterprises must be rationalized with the reasons for exempting the affected institutions themselves from income taxes. In most cases the question relates to colleges and universities, many of which have substantial unrelated business interests.

As to the closing of a tax loophole, the Treasury's need for money must be weighed against the desirability of helping charitable and educational institutions to earn income for themselves and thus to reduce their dependence on contributions. Does the Treasury's need, considered in relation to other possible sources of revenue and to the possibilities for economies in the government, justify the proposed step? If the aim is to catch charlatans taking advantage of the tax loop hole, then every effort should be made to leave undisturbed the legitimate income activities of genuine charitable and educational institutions, while snaring those operators whose motive is not charity or education but the evasion of taxes. The line, in any case, should be worked out with the greatest care.

FOR A COALITION

The British Labor Party once had a majority of four in the House of Commons. Now it has only three. Raymond Blackburn, elected as a Labor candidate, has resigned from the party because he thinks that Britain needs a coalition government head by Winston Churchill. His feeling is that in times of war or near-war an expert in conducting conflicts should take charge, and Churchill indisputably can qualify as that.

"England does not love coalition," has been a time-honored British political maxim. Presumably it dates back to the Crimean war almost one hundred years ago, which was conducted, not very successfully, by a government composed of the leaders of the Whig and Peelite parties. In the eighties Irish home rule was beaten by a combination of Conservatives and Anti-Home Rule Liberals, who eventually merged to form a new party, the Unionists. Coalition of all parties took hold during both world wars. If a a third should break out, it is virtually certain that the Attlee government would strengthen national unity by taking in leading Conservatives. The big question then would be who would lead, Attlee, Churchill, or some new figure?

England may not love coalitions, but there are times when she cannot do without them.

NEW AMUSEMENT FOR DAD

Miniature railroads have fascinated many Americans for years. Now a new and similar interest is developing. This is the pastime of decorating back yards with miniature houses and villages. These do not require the mechanical ability necessary to keep toy railroads running, yet give quite as much scope to the creative imagination. A village can be changed at any time that the owner wishes, and the varieties of buildings and the addition of such features as traffic lights, street signs and others keep him fully occupied. Some have even made such villages commercially profitable by exhibiting them for an entrance fee.

Toy villages are like the circus. The ostensible reason for an interest may be to please Junior, but the real enthusiast is Dad.

BATTLE OF MISSOURI

President Truman failed to get the man of his choice nominated for senator in Missouri. Congressman T. C. Henning Jr. defeated the President's preference, Emory A. Allison. This has naturally been heralded by political apponents as a repudiation of Mr. Truman, yet is not necessarily so. Local considerations are reported to have played some part. A struggle over a proposed new charter for St. Louis is said to have caused the local politicians to line up solidly behind Hennings, enabling him to nose out Allison by a slight majority.

Presidents are not always able to control their party in their home states. Back in Grover Cleveland's time, in 1892, Gov. David B. Hill seized the party machinery, and instructed the state delegation to the Democratic National Convention to vote for Hill for president. Cleveland also a candidate, thus had to go before the convention without the support of his own state, yet was nominated in spite of that.

In 1942 James A. Farley took control of the New York political organization away from President Roosevelt, with disastrous results to the organization and to Farley's reputation for political wisdom.

No such rift has appeared so far in Missouri. The President has now announced his support of Hennings, and Hennings has refrained from criticizing administration policy. Apparently that is that.

ARGENTINE VICE RAID

Argentine police have set a mark to shoot at in the conduct of large-scale raids on dens of vice. In a single swoop in Buenos Aires, which must have occupied most of the city police force together with a substantial number of federal police, 6,610 persons were arrested.

The knowledge that Argentina is a police state takes some of the shine off this feat. It is bound to be suspected that the raid was not carried out for the sole purpose of lifting the moral tone of Buenos Aires night life. Nevertheless the operation should leave a definite mark on the areas of shady entertainment. It should be a long time before the Buenos Aires underworld, or its patrons, forget that night.

There was shock when the knowledge spread that chop suey was not Chinese. Now it appears that the ukulele is not Hawaiian, but was brought to Hawaii by Portuguese immigrants. How many other traditional beliefs are wrong?

Here's a hope that science can keep dishing up devices to help us keep up with the strides of modern science.

Despite a barrage of hasty excuses to the unexpected visitor, he usually sees the house as it usually is.

Johnson Points To High Cost Of War Equipment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Costs of military equipment are as much as ten times above World War II levels, says Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex).

He cited present costs of military goods—planes, tanks, warships, guns—in urging immediate price control as "a military necessity."

Johnson gave these figures on military costs:

Equipping an infantry division in 1944 cost $14,500,000; today's cost, $74,000,000.

An armored division's equipment in 1944 cost $30,000,000; today's cost $199,000,000.

Destroyer cost $7,000,000 in 1939; are priced at $40,000,000 today.

Light tanks that cost $27,000 in 1939 cost $225,000 now.

In 1939 B-17 bombers cost $300,000; tolay's B-36 costs more than $3,000,000.

GERMANY

with any limited German troublemaking from the east.

How and when to undertake this controlled rearming of western Germany is a problem of intense concern to the western powers. Initial decisions may be made when the U. S., British and French foreign ministers meet in New York Sept. 12.

The development of measures to offset Russia's strategy is immensely complicated by a need for international understanding. Russia's moves are decided in secrecy and in the last analysis by one man, but western decisions must be agreed to by sharply differing governments, each with an eye to what its own people will support.

Even within the administration here there has to be agreement among the state and defense departments and White House before the U. S. can take a definite stand.

Several lines of possible action are under intensive study. They include creating a substantially larger German police force, reinforcing the British-American - French occupation armies and drawing on German manpower to bolster western European forces.

At a news conference Secretary of State Acheson did not rule out any of these possibilities. Yet he was deliberately vague about indicating what may be done. He appeared to be trying to softpedal the whole subject pending some understanding with other allied leaders as to action.

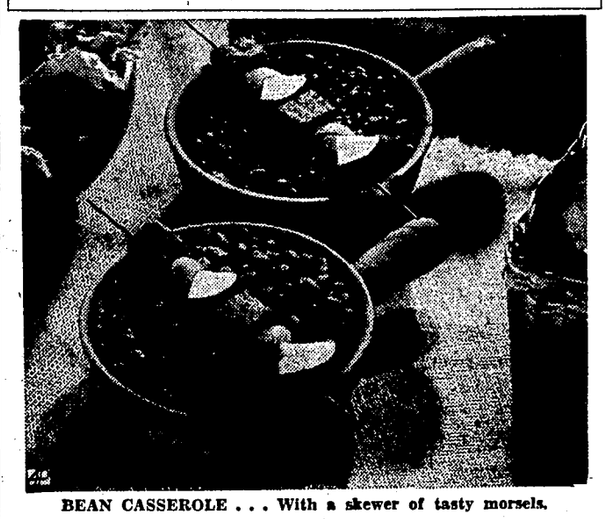

France's traditional reluctance to see Germans given arms again, even under controls, is the biggest single barrier to quick decision.

On the German side Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is understood to be pressing for agreement among the parties inside Germany on support of an enlarged German police force. Reports from Bonn say he wants 65,000 men. This would have to be approved by the occupation powers.

The task of a police force would be to deal with Communist subversion and political trouble-making undertaken by the east against western Germany—all action short of a direct military aggression of the Korean type.

Outright assault—as the situation now stands—apparently would involve at once the occupation armies of the western powers, however much Russia might insist that what was really going on was a German civil war.

LAZY-SUSAN MEALS

BEAN CASSEROLE . . . With a skewer of tasty morsels.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE.

Use ready-to-eat foods that come in jars or cans or packages artfully if you want to save time and energy in getting summer meals and yet have good eating. Here are some suggestions:

Dont' serve the entire meal out of jars and cans and packages if you can help it. Let a few of these foods help out and add something home-prepared.

Present your ready-to-eat food with a different touch. For instance ready-prepared Borscht (beet soup to you) can be chilled and poured out in a minute; but with it serve a lazy-susan or some other attractive platter of accompaniments—sliced cucumber (with the peel left on and scored before slicing thin), boiled new potatoes sprinkled with parsley, sliced and whole scallions, sliced hard-cooked eggs, and a bowl of sour cream.

Or instead of always serving the Borscht straight from the jar add two cups of tomtao juice to it and a tablespoon of cooking sherry, then chill overnight to mingle flavors. Serve next day with a dollop of sour cream and a sprinkling of diced crisp cucumber on top.

Canned baked beans are a widely-used food that taste better when you've added a home touch. One man I know likes to season the molasses variety with Worcestershire sauce, curry powder, onion salt and then adds diced fresh tomatoes as they heat. For a tastey baked bean casserole, empty canned Boston baked beans into individual casseroles, and add two tablespoons of molasses to each dish, stirring it in. String cubes of cooked ham or luncheon meat, tiny cooked white onions (they come ready-prepared in jars), and small wedges of apple on skewers or steel knitting needles; heat in a mdoerate oven until the beans are bubbly and hot. Serve with a vegetable salad, milk and muffins.

Mexico Finances Purchases In U.S.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The government's financing agency says it is lending money to importers so they can bring in U. S. goods before the war cuts the supply.

The Nacional Financiera, Mexican equivalent of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, said it would lend up to 70 per cent of the amount importers need for orders of raw materials, repair parts and machinery. Antonio Carillo Flores, director of the Nacional Financiera, said that these loans would be made only in cases in which private banks refused the business.

Laredo Wallops Corpus Threat

By The Associated Press

Laredo walloped Corpus Christi, 12-5, Wednesday night to protect its half game lead in the Class C Rio Grande league.

The biggest crowd of the year —2,012—turned out at Laredo to honor Manager Manuel Salvatierra. His Apaches responded with an easy win over the Aces.

Pilo Gasper, Bill McCloskey and John Ludec homered and Lloyd Pearson and Joe Koppe homered for Corpus Christi.

Harlingen snapped a three game losing streak with an 8-3 win over Del Rio, while Bob Brown hit three home runs and a single to pace Brownsville to a 13-4 win over McAllen.

Earlier Wheat Loan Maturity Dates Opposed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The agriculture department has disagreed with Rep. Hope (R-Kas) that farmers would benefit if the April 30 maturity date for wheat loans were advanced or if different dates were set for different areas to ease the harvest-time boxcar shortage.

Hope told a reporter he felt the question of advancing the loan maturity date would be "a good subject" for consideration by the National Association of Wheat Growers.

He recently wrote Commodity Credit Corporation officials that Kansas and other states suffer from boxcar shortages and lack of sufficient storage space at harvest time.

The difficulty is caused in part by the April 30 maturity date which he said does not enable the CCC to move its wheat from farms and local storage in time to make transportation room for the new crop.

The Kansan said he did not see how a boxcar shortage could be avaided unless CCC-owned wheat is moved before the new crop starts moving.

Frank Woolley, deputy CCC administrator, replied that in view of diminishing exports and crowded warehouses, an earlier maturity date would have been of little benefit this year.

An earlier date would be of advantage in administration, he said, but it would lessen the benefits of the loan program to growers.

During the last several years there has been a general rise in wheat prices during the month of April, he said. To eliminate that month from the support period, he wrote, would materially weaken the program.

Under the program wheat growers may redeem their wheat from the government if they think it will draw a better price on the open market than the loan price.

Suggestions for staggered maturity dates have come from railroads and the grain trade, Woolley said.

COLLINS

the forward command post all hell broke loose."

Collins also visited a South Korean front line division.

Both Sherman and Collins met with correspondents at Eighth army headquarters in Korea.

News of their visit was withheld until today for security reasons.

The naval chief told correspondents he was in Korea to "soak in a little knowledge so we con do a better job."

Back in Tokyo, Sherman expressed belief that Russians had been supplying the Korean Reds since the outbreak of fighting and added:

"Nobody believes the North Koreans are manufacturing their own war materials."

The Russians have contended in the United Nations that they have not supplied the Red Koreans since 1948.

Sherman said the Korean campaign had proved that on short notice all three services can get into action. He said the navy is steadily increasng its Korean war force and has 150 ships and 90,000 men in the operation.

He said more marines and marine air units will be included in a balanced buildup of U. S. naval forces.

The admiral praised co-operation of the British, Dutch, French, Australian and South Koreans and said the United Nations naval forces are working well together.

MORE HELP DUE

ABOARD A U. S. 7TH FLEET AIRCRAFT CARRIER, Aug. 24 (AP)—American warships hammering the Korean coast are only "the advance guard until more help can come," Adm. Forrest P. Sherman told this ship's company.

Speaking to more than 2,000 men on the hangar deck of this 27,000-ton carrier Wendesday, the U. S. chief of naval operations said:

"Your job is appreciated from the highest level of the government down to the lowest. The whole country knows the job the navy has been doing and has the highest praise for the superlative work you have done out here.

"I know you have carried out as many as seven strike days in nine since your arrival in this area.

"The ships gathered here are only part of the advanced guard until more help can come. On behalf of the entire naval service let me give you a very hearty, 'well done'."

Admiral Sherman has returned to Tokyo.

Frances Langford And Jon Hall At Home In Florida

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 24.—(AP)—If this be treason, California, make the most of it: Frances Langford and Jon Hall are making Florida their official home.

The news, however devastating to the local ego, is true. When I found Actor Hall on a movie set, he confirmed it. And he told me why:

"Our main interests now lie in Florida. We have bought a large ranch with 8000 citrus trees, a beautiful home and a resort at Jenson Beach, not far from Palm Beach. It was silly to go down there just for visits, so we sold our house in Hollywood and will make our headquerters in Florida."

12 Hours By Air.

"Mind you, we're not giving up California. We'll come here to make pictures and do radio. It's only 12 hours by air, and we have our own plane. When we're not working, we'll spend the time looking after our Florida property."

He grew rhapsodic as he told of how the found the land: "We were taking a trip to New York to buy a yacht. But when we arrived it had already been sold. So we bought a car instead and started driving. Believe it or not, we got lost in Florida and came across this place.

"I'll tell you why I like it. I used to live in Tahiti and this place of ours has everything that Tahiti has: coconuts, cashew nuts, oranges, hibiscus, beautiful flowers, fine fishing and the best weather."

Also, he added somewhat ruefully, the place has occasional hurricanes. He lost $68,000 worth of fruit because of one last year. He breathed more easily after another big blow passed along the coast last week.

Hall will have to return to Smogland-on-the-Pacific two or three times a year to fulfill his Columbia contract. He is currently enacting a Colonial Indian friend of young George Washington in something called "When the Redskins Rode." He is probably the first film Indian with cury hair, knee britches and lace.

Native of California.

As he donned his frilly costume, Hall declaredq he held no grudge against California. "After all," he said, "I was born and reared in Fresno. This is my native state and I like it here, too."

His wife, I might add, is the pride of Lakeland, Fla., and never, as the old saying goes, underestimate the power of a woman.

Short Snorts—Gregory Peck takes two vacations after he kills off a few more Indians in the frontier drama, "Only the Valiant." He plans to fish on the Rogue river in Oregon, and visit Mexico. Then he'll return to star with Susan Hayward in "David and Bathsheba," which may be 20th-Fox's answer to "Samson and Delilah." It's a Biblical tale and will be filmed in Beverly Hills, not Palestine as originally planned.

Higher Wholesale Milk Prices Due

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department predicts wholesale prices to farmers for all milk will rise seasonaly throughout the rest of this year.

Its monthy dairy report said this will result primarily from higher fat content of milk, an increased proportion of milk used in Class 1 outlets, and scheduled increases in prices of milk for fluid consumption.

Texas Newspapers Endorse Judge W. A. Morrison For Court of Criminal Appeals

Criminal Appeals Judge

DALLAS NEWS, August 12 — W. A. Morrison, on the basis of character, judgment, and background, should be elected. A careful student of the criminal law, and cognizant of its legal technicalities, he has applied himself as defense counsel, prosecutor and judge. His legal knowledge, courtroom experience and integrity justify his selection.

HOUSTON CHRONICLE, August 6—For the Court of Criminal Appeals, Judge W. A. Morrison of Milam County has a fine record as district attorney and district judge. His proved qualifications make him the choice over R. L. Lattimore of Dallas County who has had no judicial experience.

FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM, August 15— The Star-Telegram . . . has concluded that the selection of . . . W. A. Morrison of Cameron for Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals would be in the best interest of the people. His experience as prosecutor and judge, as well as his standing as an attorney, qualifies him well for the promotion he seeks.

Mildred Competes In Six-Man Grid Loop This Season

Mildred high school will compete in six-man football this fall, it was announced this week by A. G. Sebastian, Mildred school superintendent.

The Eagles, whose enrollment figure for the past several years has placed them in the sixman category, have been voted in the Class B eleven-man circuit by the member teams in recent years.

Sebastian said that a further drop in enrollment and eligible boys made it imperative that Mildred drop into lower classification for the 1950 season.

A. H. Asby, former assistant coach at the State Home here, is the new coach at Mildred. He and Sebastian attended the District 6 meeting of the six-man group in Palmer early this week.

District 6 will be divided into two zones, they said, with seven teams, including Mildred, in the south zone, and six in the north zone. Zone members with Mildred are Richland, Rice, Palmer, Venus, Abbott, and Mt. Calm.

Teams in the north zone are Allen, Collinsville, Tioga, Westminster, Blue Ridge and Prosper.

The 1950 composite schedule for the south zone follows:

Sept. 21—Abbott at Rice, Richland at Venus, Mt. Calm at Mildred.

Sept. 28—Palmer at Richland, Mildred at Abbott, Venus at Mt. Calm.

Oct. 5—Rice at Mildred, Mt. Calm at Palmer, Abbott at Venus.

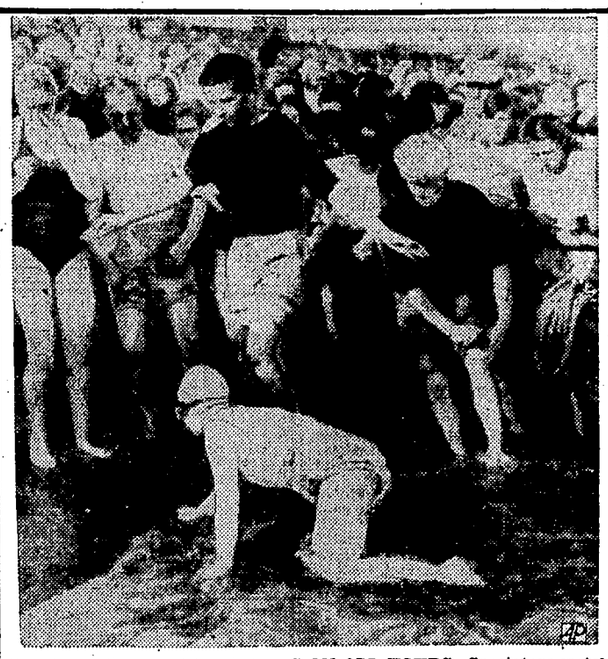

Oct. 12—Richland at Mt. Calm, Venus at Rice, Palmer at Abbott.

Oct. 19—Mildred at Venus, Abbott at Richland, Rice at Palmer.

Oct. 26—Mt. Calm at Abbott, Palmer at Mildred, Richland at Rice.

Nov. 2—Venus at Palmer, Rice at Mt. Calm, Mildred at Richland.

CHANNEL SWIMMER FINISHES ON ALL FOURS—Spectators watch Eileen Fenton, 21, English school teacher, crawl ashore at Dover, England, after swimming the English Channel from Cap Gris Nez, France. Record Crowd Is Due To Witness Dallas Pro Tilt

DALLAS, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Detroit Lions-Washington football game here next week will draw the largest crowd ever to se professional teams play in Dallas.

The two National football league members meet here next Wednesday night in the Cotton Bowl in an exhibition game.

Lester Jordan, director of publicity for the game, said today 30,000 tickets already had been sold and he predicted 45,000 to 50,000 would see the contest.

The largest previous crowd for a pro game here was in 1936 when 25,000 watched the Chicago Bears play an all-star college team.

The game is attracting the large crowd because of the presence on the Lions squad of Doak Walker and Gil Johnson, former Southern Methodist University stars, and Bobby Layne, the ex-University of Texas great. Also, Washington will have Sammy Baugh, the former Texas Christian star who is one of the most fabulous football players in Southwestern history.

Davis Looks Good With Ram Eleven

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Glenn Davis, a three-time all-American star at West Point, from all indications has already earned his letter—and with it a nice bonus—as a rookie in professional football.

Good looking Glenn got the first real chance to show his wares with the Los Angeles Rams Wednesday night and proved a large factor in the team's 34-31 triumph over the Chicago Cardinals in a national football league exhibition.

The outcome sent the Cardinals on to Denver to play the Washington Redskins with three exhibition setbacks against them, and the Rams appeared better equipped for their next exhibition, against the champion Philadelphia Eagles next Wednesday night here.

Scored one touchdown on a sparklig 14-yard end run, set up another with a 38-yard dash and gained a total of 99 yards in 10 trips with the ball.

Schoolboy Quits Channel Effort

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Philip Mickman, plucky, 19-year old English school boy, came within an ace today of swimming the English Channel the hard way—from England to France.

For three hours he battled mountanious seas 500 yards off the French coast in a vain attempt to reach land. Then his trainers hauled him exhausted into the accompanying rowboat.

Mickman, who swam from France to England a year ago, was so close to success for so long today that members of his party here understood he had finished successfully and made an announcement to that effect to the press.

Pampa Increases Lead In Westex

By The Associated Pres.

Pampa licked Lamesa, 11-7, Wednesday night and as a result increased its West Texas-New Mexico league lead to six full games. And the season's pretty far gone.

Lubbock, pressing Lamesa for second, lost a chance to shoot ahead of the Lobos when it dropped a one-sided, 11-1, decision to Abilene.

Borger licked Clovis, 7-3, and Jim Bynon's home run gave Amarillo a 12 inning, 9-8, win over Albuquerque.

KOREAN

reported the changing position of the 50,000-man force removed the immediate threat to Taegu—largest city left in the allied defense perimeter in southast Korea.

U. S. and South Korean troops smashed four Red lunges in the five-day period. The Reds originally were scheduled to capture Taegu on Aug. 15—the anniversary of Korean liberation from Japan.

Under the same timetable the Reds were scheduled to end the war in victory by Aug. 31 on orders from North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung.

Correspondent Lambert said South Korean troops, advancing eastward under allied plane attacks, captured "The Citadel," a craggy, high ridge north of Taegu from which Red observers had looked down on United Nations positions.

Other localized flank attacks, including two of company strength—about 200 men each—were repulsed.

By Thursday afternoon General MacArthur's war summary reported "decreasing enemy pressure" in the bloody mountain battlefield where in one 72-hour period 3,500 casualties were inflicted on the Reds.

Marine airmen said they killed 800 North Koreans Thursday in a rocket and strafing attack on heavy troop concentrations.

About 1,000 Reds were dug into positions behind rock barricades on the shoulders of a 3,000-foot sawtooth mountain near Namwon, about eight miles north of Taegu. But they were reported not seriously threatening allied forces.

U. S. and South Korean troops beat off localized enemy infiltrating attacks on their flanks and continued their frontal thrust Thursday in the face of reduced Red artillery and mortar fire. This was the fifth day of continuous battle for the bloody "bowling alley" corridor of the mountain passes.

An American attack Wednesday drove Communist infiltrations into the hills east of the main Kumhwa-Taegu road. The U. S. troops opened the highway after snipers had interrupted supply traffic for two days.

The Reds also appeared to be pulling back from the Waegwan area, 12 miles northwest of Taegu. They were quiet at a bridgehead across the Naktong River near Hyonpung, 14 miles Southwest of the rail hub.

The American First Cavalry division facing the Waegwan area sent patrols across the river Thursday without meeting any opposition. The U. S. 24th Infantry division guards the Naktong front southwest of Taegu.

U. S. 25th Infantry division troops renewed an attack Thursday to win positions in the dominating Sobruk ridge on the southwestern front at the outer approaches to Pusan, main U. S. harbor on the southeastern coast.

The 25th infantrymen were held up by heavy mortar and small arms fire from deeply entrenched Reds, who were the advance units of two Communist divisions believed preparing a fresh assault in the deep south toward Pusan.

South Korean troops, moving northward from the Pohang-Kigye area on the east coast, ran into stiff but localized Red resistance.

The South Korean Capitol division captured commanding heights in the lofty mountains near Odok, about eight miles north of Kigye.

The South Korean Third division continued to advance north of Hunghae on the east coast.

In general, Thursday was a day of testing and searching for information by American patrols thrust ahead of their lines.

A patrol probing across the Naktong ran into a mortar attack and two war correspondents were wounded, neither seriously. They are Randolph Churchill, son of Britain's war time prime minister Winston Churchill, and Frank Emery of International Service, an American.

A mortar fragment tore a half-dollar-size hole in Churchill's leg and Emery was hit in three places. A U. S. soldier of the patrol was wounded so badly he had to be left on the Communist west bank of the river and efforts to rescue him were beaten off.

Churchill worked for hours on his story for a London newspaper and then was flown to Japan.

South Korean Marines, a tough, rag-tag outfit equipped with U. S., Japanese and South Korean castoff arms, landed on the island of Uido, off the extreme southwest top of the Korean peninsula.

Correspondent Lambert on the main fighting front reported some U. S. officers believed the Red forces drifting eastward above Taegu were seeking a flanking route to renew their drive toward Taegu. Others said they might be pulling back to regroup.

U. S. First Cavalry officers told Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth the enemy seemed to be withdrawing around Waegwan. This led to belief the units assembled there in a major buildup, might be going northward to replace losses suffered by the main Red force before Taegu.

The Red probing down the main mountain-hedged highway to Taegu began Sunday. Three tank-led attacks were beaten back by Allied frontline troops, artillery and Pershing tanks.

Eleven Red tanks out of a known total of 14 were destroyed.

Then the Reds sifted down a valley back of the American lines and moved to dominating ridge positions east of the main road. From there mortar and artillery fire held up road traffic and knots of Red attackers flailed at American positions, especially the U. S. long guns.

STRIKE

Order of Railway Conductors—gave their all-out strike orders to their 300,000 members Wednesday after a new deadlock developed in White House peace talks with the carriers.

The nationwide strike call against 131 rail lines was unexpected. The union leaders only Tuesday night had given everyone to understand they would not expand five-day "token" walkouts presently in progress at five key rail centers.

However, the dispute over wages and working hours has dragged out over a period of a year and a half—and constantly been growing more ominous.

Under the Railway Labor Act, which sets up a complex procedure for handling of rail disputes, the unions have been free to strike since July 15.

The deadline for the nationwide walkout is 6 a. m., Standard time Monday according to the clocks in each locality. A strike of all railroads in Canada is now in its fourth day, so if the threatened walkout develops in this country, virtually all rail transportation in North America will be at a standstill.

The unions indicated hopes that their full-scale strike threat might force railroad owners, in seeking to avoid seizure, to capitulate to union demands. On at least three prior occasions the unions asked President Truman for seizure.

The carriers didn't seem opposed to the seizure idea. At least, A. E. Stoddard, president of the Union Pacific railroad, said in Seattle last night that seizure should be ordered immediately to prevent any interruption in military supply shipments to Korea.

"We are moving material which it is vitally important to expedite," said Stoddard, a former Army colonel. "We certainly cannot afford to have the transportation system tied up at this time."

The threatened nationwide rail strike brought a demand from Senator Donnell (R-Mo.) for "immediate favorable action" on his bill, pending in the Senate labor committee, to outlaw all rail strikes and require railabor disputes to be arbitrated.

"The interests of the public are paramount and overshadow the interests of either the employers or the employes of our nation's railway system," Donnell said.

If President Truman seizes the railroads, the rail workers would become government employes and as such could be punished by the courts for staying out on strike. However, the unions have pledged the men will work for the government under seizure.

If the President takes over the railroads, it would be the fifth time in 32 years. The last time all the railroads were seized was 1948.

Canada Is Hard Hit By Walkout

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The government obtained authority today to mobilize and control all commercial aircraft to cope with a three-day-old rail strike threatening to paralyze this country's economy.

Officials said they would not use the authority unless the strike causes a further deterioration in transport facilities. These are admittedly already hard hit. Under the order the government has power to ration passenger traffic and dispatch commercial aircraft for any point in Canada for emergency use.

Thousands already have been idled by the walkout of 124,000 nonoperative rail workers who are pressing demands for higher pay and a 40-hour week. More probably will be laid off as the strike continues.

The government has called an emergency session of parliament for next Tuesday to discuss what action it will take on the paralyzing walkout. Because of the rail stoppage, many parliament members are to be flown in by a special airlift.

Western wheat farmers and Ontario peach producers expected critical results from the lack of rail transportation.

ators who lunched with Secretary of Defense Johnson for a review of the military situation said they came away with the impression that it may be some time before troops offered by other nations participate in the actual fighting.

American field commanders are too busy fighting off Communist attacks to carry out the delicate operation of meshing operations of more troops with different equipment, different languages and different fighting tactics, senators said they were told.

Johnson was reported to have told the seven, all Republicans, that he believes the American-South Korean defense line is stabilized and there now is no danger that the defenders will be pushed off the peninsula.

The military manpower pinch, meanwhile, brought suggestions from some Republicans that the UMT bill be stripped of its operating code and passed in the form of a Congressional mandate to start the training at a later date.

This proposal would leave up to a commission the task of working out details of how the training would be carried out. Congress then would pass on these recommendations next year.

Senator Morse (R-Ore), a member of the Armed Services group, told a reporter he thought such a plan is worth considering as a means of keeping Congress from getting bogged down in the details of a system that couldn't go into operation for many months at best.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services committee has said his group won't even consider the measure until the Senate acts on it.

House Leaders generally haven't given the proposal any place on their calendar, which calls for a Congressional vacation some time in September.

TRIESTE

20 miles long, centered on the port and naval basin of Trieste. It is the base from which that help would have to come.

No one knows what Italy would do. She has no love for Yugoslavia. She probably would help in a fight to keep her own frontiers from being the next to be breached. But her fighting force is limited by her World War two peace treaty to less than Yugoslavia's. Italy is the weakest link in the western wall.

Trieste itself would be useful as a base only if a Soviet atack could be checked far short of it. The British-American zones are stretched along the coastal flatland, virtually untenable against attack from the 1,000-foot-high inland plain which looks down from within close artillery range.

The American force here is limited by the peace treaty to 5,000 men and thus cannot now be reinforced. The British element of the Trieste force also is 5,000 strong and limited to that figure.

The U. S. troops are members of the 351st infantry regiment, with supporting auxiliary units. Their officers say 30 per cent of the men are combat veterans.

Their commander is Maj. Gen. William M. Hoge, Gen. George Patton's old Fourth Armored Division commander, who led his troops in the Battle of the Bulge, across the Rhine and finally into Czechoslovakia.

the interior department interim control, he said, and federal authorities have expressed opposition to any amendment which would substitute state control.

Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) of the senate interior committee, who introduced the federal interim control bill, said his group has not had time to discuss testimony taken last week on the legislation.

Rep. Lyle (D-Tex) told a reporter he still hopes some sort of interim legislation can be worked out at this session so as to revive oil and gas explorations off the Texas and Louisiana gulf coasts.

Lyle said he hoped an interim measure could be agreed to which would confirm existing leases and permit future leasing to be done by state officials, subject to approval by the government.

Half Of County Registrants Are Classified 1-A

Fifty per cent of the Selective Service registrants sent from Navarro county so far this month have been classified 1-A and acceptable for military service, Mrs. J. Preston Welch, chief clerk of the Navarro county board, said 19 of the 38 sent to Dallas passed their examinations.

Mrs. Welch also pointed out that 50 were ordered up for military examinations and that the other 12 were covered through transfrs to other boards and for excusable reasons.

"So far we haven't had any delinquents in Navarro county," Mrs. Welch said, "a record I'm proud of."

The two groups examined so far include men in the 22-to-25 age brackets.

Listed as acceptable by military officials in Dallas are the following:

Robert W. Selby, Jack O. Hale, Raymond L. Coffey, Hez J. Allen, negro; Harvey E. Ray, Alvin R. Crowe, Lonnie J. Stokes, Richard L. Daniels, negro; Joseph M. Pearson, D. M. Hinkle, Dillard S. Ellington.

Billy W. Farmer, Johnny B. Moseley, Leslie W. Barlow, Harold M. Shapero, Charlie R. York, Tommy C. Gullett; Wardell Black and Robert M. Scott, both negroes.

The Navarro county board has received orders to send 100 more registrants to Dallas for examinations. Fifty will leave Corsicana on Aug. 31, and 50 more will go to Dallas on Sept. 14.

The local office has not yet received a September quota for actual induction.

the peace of the world jeopardized, which makes it clear that free nations must provide themselves with a common security as early as possible and be prepared to defend the principles of international law and justice for which the United Nations stands."

The committee made no reduction in the $62,000,000 requested for the Voice of America program, which has been set up to spread Americanism and Democracy abroad. But it refused funds for the "exchange of persons" project to bring 85 Communist leaders to this country from Yugoslavia to teach them American ways.

Included in the Voice of America funds were $2,860,257 to buy an estimated 200,000 midget radio sets for distribution abroad.

Other allotments in the bill included:

Bureau of engraving and printing to print new money: $2,575,000.

Postoffice departemnt: $45,100,000.

Farmers' Home administration: Additional loan authorization up to $18,000,000 for aid to farmers in disaster-stricken areas.

Office of housing expediter: $10,615,500 to administer the federal rent control program, with the understanding that all activities terminate by next June 30, when the present rent control law expires.

Veterans' Administration: $8,614,800 for medical, hospital and domiciliary service, including the staffing of new veterans' hospitals.

House passage is scheduled for Friday.

The bill boosts to more than $50,000,000,000 the federal budget for this fiscal year. The remaining $34,000,000,000 is in a general one-package appropriation measure on which senate-house conferees hoped to reach final agreement during the day.

The defense funds the new bill contains are in addition to more than $14,000,000,000 in the general appropriations measure. The house voted $14,300,000,000 and the senate $14,679,000,000.

In granting the President's money requests for the various activities without any sizable cuts, subcommittee members said they were taking no chances on the defense program bogging down for want of financing.

They gave the defense department authority to shift its money from one account to another, under some restraints, to meet such eemrgencies as unusual demands for emdical and hospital service.

The committee said the army's allotemnt would finance the immediate situation in Korea and permit a prompt increase in "combat readiness," including activation of another fighting divison and establishment of two additional training, or replacement, divisions.

By next June 30, the committee said, the army's fighting strength should be 834,000 men instead of the estimated 600,000 now in uniform.

For army construction projects the committee approved the full $84,952,000 required. For similar work by the navy, the entire $85,978,000 requested was approved. Both amounts are in addition to funds carried in the general appropriation bill.

The navy's share of the emergency measure includes $185,000,000 for shipbuilding, including a speed-up in getting laid-up fighting ships ready for action as well as constructing some small craft; and $1,596,269,000 to procure 2,377 new warplanes and build the navy's air arm up to 7,335 planes.

More than half of the air force funds are for plane procurement which the committee said will be at a rate designed to double original goals for the present fiscal year. The $2,672,570,000 for planes is figured to provide 2,956 aircraft, giving the air force 4,428 new planes.

The combined defense funds contemplate the adition of an estimated 257,000 civilian employes. In an effort to find a solution for what it called past failures in the fiel odf imilitary civilian personnel, the committee directed its staff to make a full investigation.

Fire Chief Howard Bivins said the alarm was turned in at 11 p. m. by two motorists who saw the blaze in the front of the store.

Fire and smoke damage also occurred in the front part of the building, Bivins said.

The senate has passed a somewhat simlar bill, and a conference now will be held to work out a compromise.

Shortly before the bill passed the house Rep. Rees (R-Kans) accused the defense edpartment of trying to "save its face" by injecting into the bill a provision he said would condone alleged maladmnistration by the army finance center.

Coach Payne Says Tigers Will Win Football Games

Coach Boyd Payne told the Corsicana Civitans Thursday that his Tigers would "win some ball games this season" but that they might be beaten a time or two.

"Anyway," Payne pointed out, "don't draw your conclusions about the team from the first two or three ball games."

The Tiger coach pointed out that the short two-week training period is not enough, despite the fact that the local mentors bring their boys along in condition faster than the average high school coach. "We issue uniforms on Sept. 1, and have a game two weeks later."

In addition, Payne promised that "we'll try to win the 'odd' game with Waco." He was referring to the fifth meeting between Corsicana and Waco since Payne has been coach here. Corsicana has won two in Waco and Waco has won two in Corsicana.

There is a possibility that this season's meeting between the two teams of Tigers will be the last one in the same classification. Interscholastic League officials have indicated that a different system of classification may be instituted next year that would place Corsicana and Waco in different leagues.

Payne, customarily optimistic about his team prospects, explained his present caution by saying that he has lost all but five lettermen, and the boys who are to replace last year's stars are mostly juniors and sophomores. The 1950 crew thus will be short on experience.

"We are playing a tough schedule all the way through this season," the mentor said. "We may get knocked off two or three times, but we'll be interestin to watch."

W. B. Waddell presided in the absence of President Morris Battle. Jerry Stockard introduced the speaker for the meeting. Elbert Berry, 1949 Tiger back, was a guest at the session.

The club deferred action on a number of proposals until the return of President Battle.

Wichard Praises Farmer Co-Ops

STILLWATER, Okla., Aug. 24—(AP)—Claude R. Wickard, director of the Rural Electrification Administration, told farm delegates from over the nation that farm co-operatives "offer a practical schooling in democracy second to none."

The former secretary of agriculture addressed the 22nd annual meeting of the American Institute of Co-operation being held on the Oklahoma A. and M. campus here.

Wickard said co-operatives are the means of preserving the family-type farm which he called the "institution most essential in rural America."

He said the co-operative form of business promotes principles and ideals which make communities better and provides a stabilizing factor in an area's business life.

The 3,000 delegates also heard Asher Hobson, board chairman of their organization, report that a farm co-operative—like any other business—can not exist under excessive governmental controls.

Record Crowd Expected For IOOF Rebekah Pilgrimages September 2-3

A record crowd of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from all sections of Texas is expected at the Corsicana and Ennis Homes Sept. 3, according to statements issued by T. E. Jasperson, Corsicana, grand master, and Mable Patterson, Paris, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, at the annual Home Pilgrimage Day.

Chartered buses are to be employed from the more distant points to bring the delegations to these annual events, surpassed in interest and attendance only by the annual sessions of the Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly.

Among the improvements to be seen at the Corsicana Home will be the new nursery building erected by the San Antonio Lodge No. 11, the remodeled boys' building, and improvements made and needed on the auditorium.

Grand Master Jasperson says $17,500 is needed to rehabilitate the auditorum at the Home here.

A district subordinate lodge meeting will be held in the IOOF Hall here Saturday night, Sept. 2, sponsored by the Grand Encampment of Texas, according to Grand Patriarch J. Dean Cumbie of Dallas. L. S. Dupree, Dallas banker and prominent Odd Fellow, will be the principal sepaker. A special session of the Grand Encampment will also be held in the IOOF building here Sept. 2, to confer the Grand Lodge degree.

HONEY-COLORED CORDUROY AMONG TOP FAVORITES AT J. C. PENNEY FASHION SHOW

Five hundred J. C. Penney Co. patrons watched a fall presentatios of fashions Tuesday evening at the store, and a strong chorus of them went away singing, "I'm in Love with You, Honey!" For honey-toned corduroy was an important combination of color and fabric in the overall fashion picture, as interpreted by the firm.

Honey was only one of several delectable colors underlined in the show, however, with rosewood, gold, jockey red, copper, cocoa, woodland green and toast flaunted in a fashion prism especially interesting to back-to-school ages.

While corduroy was a favorite fabric, expressing durability, wearability and versatility, that longago choice, wool jersey re-appeared in campus-wise blouses and frocks of great variety.

Mix-Match Vogue

This year, more than ever, the mix-and-match vogue dominates the college and school wardrobe, with the poncho, the weskit, the jacket, the skirt and blouse all component parts.

The show was introduced by W. H. Smith, Penney manager who presented Mrs. Harvey Hayes as commentator for the third annual fall show.

Models for the young adult fashions were Misses Jo Ann Bigony, Arlene Bigony, Jo Rene Edens, Diane DuBose, Joan Thompson and Dorothy Beauchamp; Mmes. Taylor Wilkinson, Neil W. Harris and Rex Cypert.

Children who modeled were Judy Ware, Jane Simth, Margaret Ann Smith, Billie Pope, Patsy Boaz, Jeanette Parrish and Jeanie Dickson.

Mrs. Harris Models

Mrs. Harris' first presentation was a green all-wool gabardine suit with pencil skirt, trim jacket and novel pocket treatment. Its woodland tone was emphasized by matching hat and dark brown accessories.

An August Glamour fashion, also modeled by Mrs. Harris, was a two-piece jewel green corduroy suit with tucked pockets on jacket cuffed sleeves and button trim. A scarf was added for additional color.

Honey-colored rayon gabardine fashioned the suit next worn by Mrs. Harris. It had a deep notched collar and pockets for dressy effect. She wore harmonizing slippers, bag and hat.

In coats Mrs. Harris selected an all-wool box-type wool gabardine in a neutral tone. Its gored back, flange shoulders and full, tightly cuffed sleeves added up to an interesting style.

Mrs. Cypert Appears

The cross-dyed gabardine, another interesting fall contribution, was the material for a tan suit worn by Mrs. Cypert. Dressmaker details enlivened the suit, ensembled with brown accessories.

For her second appearance she wore an August Glamour frock in all-wool jersey. A two-piece style, the dress was in tangerine color. Button flaps trimmd the bodice, and the skirt was gently pleated.

The popular metal button trim was used on a green gabardine two-piece dress, with tucks lending interest to the bib yoke and peplum. The skirt was slim and gored.

A softly flattering coat style was shown by Mrs. Cypert. In crossdyed gabardine, the garment had a deep pointed collar and was pleated to fullness in back. A tangerine hat lifted its grey color.

Fashions for Miss Bigony

A bid for popularity was sought by Miss Arlene Bigony for an ensemble consisting of a coral jacket with sleeves self-lined to the elbow, and a poet collar to give dramatic effect to a slim black skirt. The jacket was in a pert, new length.

An especially effective style shown by Miss Bigony was in honey-colored duveteen. A two-piece date dress, it had a satin lined weskit, tabbed at the side for snug fit, and long-sleeved crepe blouse.

Later Miss Bigony reappeared in a red gabardine frock, simply designed with an inverted pleat from neck to hemline and narrow self-belt set in the pockets. Her throat scarf was in green.

Showing a preference for the neutral tones, Miss Bigony was model for a camel's hair coat in a straight silhouette, designed with raglan sleeves, amber buttons an da belt, to be worn or discarded by choice.

Jumper Dress Charming

The cherished jumper-dress took a new turn in a style effectively shown by Miss Jo Rene Edens. Laced snugly through the midriff, it had a full, graceful skirt, push-up sleeves and a flattering bodice of soft wool jersey. Dark green corduroy and grey jersey were teamed in the frock.

A rose beige topper suit was worn with a vivid green blouse by Miss Edens to demonstrate the further possibilities in corduroy.

How separates may be combined in telling effect was illustrated in grey corduroy skirt, navy blue weskit with Dior horseshoe neckline and write tissue faille blouse. Th skirt had pack-all pockets, and the blouse tied in a soft bow at the throat.

For her final appearance Miss Edens wore a blue check all wool coat in three-quarter length, belted all around to tie in front. The back was pleated to fullness, and the generous sleeves were cuffed

Rayon Suiting Shown

Mrs. Wilkinson, professional caliber model, appeared first in a black and green check two-piece in rayon menswear. The crisp, lightweight weave lent itself admirably to a frock using front tab trim and cross-divided peplum at the back.

The tab trim motif was also to be seen in her red featheroy dress, trimed with tucks and metal buttons and skirted with modified flare.

A favorite among favorites was the Cynera crepe frock Mrs. Wilkinson wore to demonstrate the long-sought color which adapts itself equally to brown or black accesories. Gathered side gores gave necessary fullness, and self-covered buttons trimmed the front.

Forest green wool gabardine was the material for her coat choice, with fitted, belted back, free-swinging skirt and a tab pocket trim.

Corduroy for College

Dorothy Beauchamp's own dark prettiness didn't detract from a duo-suit combining longer length jacket and simple skirt. Honey was the color. Black accessories in softpile materials gave accent.

From the woodlands came the colors for her mix-and-match ensemble. Dark brown skirt, hunter green weskit and long, sleeved white blouse were worn.

An all-purpose fashion modeled by Miss Beauchamp was a navy rayon gabardine tailleur with tucked bodice and pockets, alligator belt and button trim.

Tucked for a perfect waistline fit was her wine, all-wool coat, belted all around.

Plaids for Miss Thompson

How plaids may be used in an inexpensive dress was illustrated by Miss Joan Thompson in an eye-catching frock of red and grey with skirt shirred to fullness and with alligator belt and buttons.

Gold is where you find it, and Miss Thompson discovered hers in an all-wool blouse with soft fullness. This she paired with a blue and gold plaid skirt with tab trim all the way around the waistline.

The fetching poncho top, a style which adjusts to fit through belt tabs at the side, was seen in a forest green and beige corduroy combination.

Cut suede was the fabric for her red shortie coat, belted all around or just in back according to the whim of the wearer. A deep, deep point extended to the waistline in back with an inverted pleat allowing lower fullness.

Plaid Trims Suit

Miss DuBose appeared first in a boxy rosewood suit with removable taffeta bow at the throat. The coat had mitered, triangular pockets, long pointed collar and sleeves self-lined to the elbow. The skirt was in a straight line.

Tasty toast was the color for her two-plecer style, contrasting tangerine sleeves and collar in wool jersey with tailored weskit-style bodice and trim skirt.

An anywhere-anytime frock was executed in navy wool jersey with Miss DuBose as model. Ribbed trim was at the neckline and on the pockets.

Rust chinchilla was used in her three-quarter length coat, so versatile that it could be belted or worn loosely. Deep pockets observed the current trend.

Jo Ann Bigony Models

With an eye to her own fall school plans, Miss Jo Ann Bigony selected a rust corduroy suit. The jacket featured a deep, plunging front, wide lapels and bloused fullness gathered to a fitted peplum. Her blouse was in white tissue faille.

Green, red and grey were combined in a wool plaid skirt worn by Miss Bigony, who selected with it a gold wool jersey blouse with tucked yoke and buttons to the neck.

With a green skirt, she wore a honey-colored jacket distinguished by wide belt and novel loops and turn-back sleeves.

Her short coat was worked in brown and white checked all wool. The large pouch pockets had deep flaps.

Young Fashions

Jane Simth wore a kelly green jumper style, a blue broadcloth and checked gingham combination frock and a grey covert coat with fur pom pom trim in her three trips before the audience.

Jeannette Parrish modeled a green corduroy weskit suit, a navy broadcloth dress with plaid trim and a red covert boxy coat with velveteen lined hood.

Margaret Ann Smith was model for a rust corduroy two-piecer, a red plaid school fashion and a coat in the military mood.

Sub-teen fashions were exhibited by Billie Pope, who appeared in a imixmatch duo in red corduroy, a brown broadcloth classroom fashion and a tone-on-tone brown and gold coat with slashed pockets and gored fit.

For this same age group Patsy Boaz modeled a corduroy suit in cocoa, a pink and grey broadcloth frock and a green covert coat with yoke and sleeve trim.

Separates in corduroy for the young girl were shown by Judy Ware, who also appeared in a plaid gingham schoolyard fashion and a wine tone coat with slashed pockets, tab trim and gored back.

Jeanie Dickson introduced a striking rust corduroy casual, a two-toned blue broadcloth dress and a brown tweed coat.

Streetman WSCS Guest Of 11th Avenue Group

"Being Happy—What It Can Mean" was the chosen devotional subject of Mrs. L. K. Carraway for the social meeting of the Eleventh Avenue Methodist WSCS Monday afternoon, when the Streetman WSCS was guest group. The parsonage home of the Rev. and Mrs. Cecil Taylor was the setting for the occasion, one of a series of visitations commemorating the tenth anniversary of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

As Mrs. Carraway closed with prayer, Mrs. Joe Worsham sang "I Would Be True."

Mrs. Malvin Keathley, president of the Eleventh Avenue WSCS, who earlier had welcomed the guests and called attenton to a birthday poster prepared by the Powell WSCS, directed a discussion of goals attained in the local church group and was in charge of the lighting of birthday candles on a white frosted cake, decorated in green.

Mrs. John Remonte lighted a candle for attainment of a membership goal; Mrs. Carraway, two candles for study and for action as an outgrowth of study; Mrs. W. B. McAlester, one for the use of program materials; Mrs. Taylor, for spiritual life; Mrs. Fred Wilson, for increased giving; Mrs. J. W. Lunsford, for children and youth work; Mrs. C. A. Livingston, for an active secretary of student work; and Mrs. Worsham, for prayerful search for new recruits to the mission field. One candle for increased subscriptions to Methodist periodicals remained unlighted, as a goal unattained in the local church. A central candle, larger than the rest, signified one to grow on.

Dark pink asters centered the lace laid refreshment table.

After the birthday song, Mrs. Hugh D. Burleson, president of the Streetman WSCS, made a wish and blew out the candles.

A skit, "The Case of Mrs. Doolittle" featured Mrs. H. J. Herrin as Mrs. Doolittle; Mrs. Jack Pate as the nurse, and Mrs. Peggy Cook as Dr. Advance. At its conclusion a life membership in the WSCS was presented to Mrs. Keathley as a surprise feature of the birthday occasion.

In the social hour Mrs. Lunsford presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Herrin served cake. Assisting in serving were Mmes. Hugh Parrish, Jr., Pate, Remonte, S. B. Nowell, Wilson and Taylor. Mrs. Horace Hayes, program chairman, and members of her commtitee were responsible for the arrangements.

Mrs. Hagar Noted As Authority On Gulf Bird Life

Mrs. Connie Hagar, native of Corsicana and an authority on bird life in the Gulf Coast area, is the subject of a magazine article by Fred D. Thompson in the August issue of the Texas Game and Fish publication.

Mrs. Hagar, sister of Mrs. R. B. Molloy and a former resident of this city, has studied the wide variety of birds in the Rockport area for the past 16 years, and her articles in various publications on that subject have gained her considerable recognition in this field.

According to the articles in the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission publication, Mr. and Mrs. Hagar own several cottages at Rockport which are frequented mainly by ornithologists from all parts of the United States.

Mrs. Hagar's observations have overturned several pet theories of migration routes held by men high in the field of ornithology, the article says.

Plans Outlined For Booster Trips To Advertise Fair

Plans for outstanding booster trips to advertise the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show were made Tuesday by a committee headed by Ed Mueller.

The committee decided to hold the trips, one east and one west, on Wednesday, Sept. 20, six days before the fair opens, Sept. 26. Business firms, factories, clubs and schools will be contacted to furnish cars and people to make the trip. It is hoped to have at least 10 cars in each caravan.

Leaving time was set at 8 a. m. and the high school band will play a concert from 7:30 to 8 in order to stimulate interest in the trip.

Musical organizations to be used in the tours include bands from the Navarro Junior College and the State Orphans Home. Attendance awards to be given away at the fair also will be displayed.

A tentative tour also was set for Saturday, Sept. 23. It was thought the high school band could make this trip to nearby towns skipped on the earlier trip.

In the past, the tours were made on two days. The committee decided it would be more practical to make the tours in one day, sending an equal numbers of cars, bands, etc., each way.

The committee also voted to notify city officials of the places to be visited and to contact service clubs in each locality.

Members of the committee were assigned various firms to contact to see if they would furnish cars. Reports are to be made next Wednesday.

After the size of the caravans has been decided, Mueller said he'd announce the routes to be followed.

It is hoped each caravan will include several cars, a band, sound truck and a novelty act.

If the Sept. 23 date is included, the high school band and several cars will visit cities in the surrounding areas on that Saturday.

Definite plans for the Sept. 20 tour will be announced soon, Mueller said.

Oklahoma Posts Guards To Keep Texas Cows Out

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Oklahoma has posted guards at the Red River across from Northeastern Texas counties to block the shipment of cattle into the state from that area.

Harold Hutton, president of the State Board of Agriculture, announced the action following an outbreak of anthrax, a highly contagious cattle descase. The quarantine is to prevent spread of the disease into this state.

"It had been going on about 10 days before we heard of it," Hutton said. "We've got a guard on every bridge down there.

"As far as we know none of the infected animals got into Oklahoma."

Counties under quarantine are Titus, Hopkins, Lamar, Delta, Bowie, Morris, Franklin, Hunt, Camp and Red River.

Hutton said that Texas has not yet quarantined the counties but has sent men into the area to vaccinate every head of cattle within two miles of a herd known to be infected.

"I think they've got it pretty well under control" he said. "However, until we are sure it is stamped out, we will turn back every load of cattle that can't be proved to be from some other part of Texas."

Officers Locate Mystery Gun In Oak Grove Death

The weapon that mysteriously killed Mrs. J. B. Strange, a 62-year-old Oak Grove woman, has been located and identified through ballistics tests, Sheriff David Castles revealed Tuesday night.

No charges have been placed against the .22 calibre rifle's owner, but an investigation is under way and the case may be turned over to the grand jury, Castles reported.

The sheriff indicated the shooting, which occurred August 11, under mysterious circumstances, probably was an accident.

The fatal gun was among 14 .22 rifles taken by county officers to the Department of Public Safety laboratory in Austin last Thursday. The rifles were gathered in the Oak Grove community by deputy sheriffs and Constable Chester Kyser of Kerens.

Mrs. Strangs was found in a dying condition by her husband about 4 p. m., Aug. 11. She had left the family residence en route to a nearby garden when the bullet struck her, it was reported.

A .22 "long" rifle bullet had entered the left side, penetrated a rib and then proceeded through the heart and both lungs, lodging under a shoulder blade.

Officers had felt that the shooting was accidental—probably a stray bullet—but an intensive investigation was launched to solve the mystery.

Ballistics tests in Austin showed that the rifle in question was the one which fired the fatal bullet, Castles reported.

Its owner, a 33-year-old war veteran, who spent 40 months in a Japanese prison camp, lives near the Strange residence. He admitted shooting blackbirds on the afternoon of the victim's death, Sheriff Castles said.

The man told officers he fired his rifle twice while on his front porch—a distance of .4 mile from the Strange home, Sastles said. He was shooting at about a 45-degree angle at blackbirds in a tree, Castles quoted him as saying.

After questioning before Assistant County Attorney Seton Holsey, the man was released.

Castles first learned of the rifle's identity about noon Tuesday, when a teletype message from the DPS in Austin was brought from Dallas to Corsicana by Ranger Bob Badgett.

Baptist Leader Opposes Loan To Spanish Dictator

Dr. J. M. Dawson, executive director of the Baptists Joint Committee on Public Affairs, Washington, D. C., Wednesday joined Will C. Rogers, Jr., congressman from California, and other public officials in signing a page ad in New York and Washington newspapers protesting the $100,000,000 loan to Franco of Spain passed recently by the U. S. Senate. The loan was a rider on the budget bill that included vital milita appropriations, Dr. Dawson said.

The Baptist leader is spending several days here with his sons, Matt and Leighton Dawson, attorneys, and leaves Thursday for Austin and Corpus Christi before returning to the capital city.

Dr. Dawson, former Baptist pastor of Waco, said he had telegraphed President Truman protesting the loan to Fascist Franco, a dictator, and termed Spain morally and financially bankrupt and one that would be a bad risk for a democratic nation.

PURITY AND SIMPLE GOODNESS REFLECTED IN BIBLICAL STORY

The Modern World Needs To Ponder The Life Of Mary, The Mother of Jesus—Basic Gospel Teachings Shine From The Home Over Which She Presided.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS.

Ours is a material time, and works mean more than faith to most of us. Nevertheless, the Sunday school lesson this week throws us back upon the truth that the determining factor in life is faith. Over and over again our Lord's formula to seekers was, "According to your faith be it unto you." And the final test of the great day is, "When the Son of man comes, will He find faith on the earth?" No faith at all seems to be the New Testament's sin of sins. Death abides in doubt; life in faith. "Only believe" is the shortest gospel.

Wrong Standards of Worth.

Life's most important happenings seldom get on the front page of the newspapers; for they are the unreported things of birth and growth and love and thought and character and the unseen decisions of individual souls. In the year 1809 everybody was talking about the military exploits of Napoleon, yet the birth of certain babies in that memorable year far outshone the distinction of Napoleon. Among the most notable of these babies were William Gladstone, Frederic Chopin, Felix Mendelssohn, and—born on the same day, Charles Darwin and Abraham Lincoln.

When the Angel Gabriel appeared to the Virgin Mary, none but the humble hill dwellers about the village of Nazareth heard of the appearance, or, if they had heard of it, would have paid the least attention. For who was this well-meaning, quiet village girl? True, she claimed descent from the great King David, but the fact remained that she was betrothed to the village carpenter and herself took part each day in household tasks like all the other village women. Would heaven stoop down to give a mighty message to this inconsequential little country girl?

First Among Women.

But history remembers the Virgin Mary, whereas the rulers of Rome at the time of Christ are for the most part known only to scholars. Today millions look to this woman with her purity of life, her abandonment to the moving Spirit of God, as a model to be followed by womanhood of all ages, and forever to be the inspiration of manhood striving toward the higher life. Mary stands first among all the women of the world. She was the chosen instrument of God whereby He conferred upon mankind His supreme blessing. If an inspiring regard for the Virgin Mary has grown dim in the mind of any Christian, let him shake himself out of his stupor. Here is God's supreme example of what womanhood should be. Here is human life at its best; an example for men as well as for women to contemplate with awe.

Today's lesson gives us a glimpse of the Virgin Mary's life at three different periods in her career. First, it shows her rejoicing in God her Saviour at the time of the Annunciation. Again, we see her and her husband, Joseph searching Jerusalem for the boy Jesus, and finding Him, to their relief and astonishment, in the people listening to the teachers and asking them questions. Last of all she is pictured standing in grief and tears at the foot of the cross, looking upon her beloved Son as He gasps out his last agonizing breath.

Lesson for Today.

In the first scene we observe the open-hearted gladness of youth facing life amid the holy light of God's guiding presence. In the second, we encounter the anxiety of a young mother troubled over a certain unaccountable turn in the nature of her adolescent son. In the last, we see the saddest of all sights—a mother witnessing the sufferings of a loved one whose sole "offense" has been that He has poured out His life in glad service to God and man. The Virgin Mary recapitulates the untold sorrow which has tortured the lives of millions of mothers through the ages.

Are we on the right track in stressing the mission of the church as an arbiter in national and international and social affairs; as an organized force in politico-moral issues; as the proud and powerful counselor of governments? Is it not possible that we have too many national commissions and committees and organizations? Would not the work of God be better done if the church continued to put the emphasis where the New Testament places it—on the enriching of the human heart, on the binding up of wounds, on the lifting up of downcast spirits, on the comforting of those who mourn, on the succor of the needy?

Great Values Are Simple.

The Gospel narratives which center about the Virgin Mary recall us, with something akin to a shock, to the truth that the center of world events lies in the home, that all problems are fundamentally human problems, that purity, love and tenderness are more important factors in world adjustment than all the plans of governments and the schemes of diplomats.

In the train of Christ follow only life, health, and happiness. The shadow He casts is sunshine.

Roden Construction Company of Fort Worth was the only other bidder for a general contract. That bid was $304,000.

W. H. Wooley of Corsicana was the low mechanical bidder with $32,200 quoted. This is for the plumbing and heating. Three other mechanical bids were received — Fortune-Blanke, Fort Worth, $41,000; Hicks Plumbing and Heating, Fort Worth, $56,390; and Layton Engineering, Tyler, $34,987.

Among those present at the opening of the bids in the county courtroom were President Corley, Secretary Carraway, Trustees A. L. Bain, Kerens; Jim Richards, Richland; Bruce McCormick, Blooming Grove, and O. L. Albritton, Ray Waller, president of the college; and Architects Clarkson and George King.

City Attorney Discussed Korea At Rotary Club

"It may take taxes to do it, but we who won't admit there's a war on in Korea will realize it when we start paying our new taxes." This was a portion of the message brought to the Corsicana Rotary club Wednesday by City Atty. Julius Jacobs.

Jacobs, who served with the 25th division in World War II, compared incidents of that war and the action in Korea. He said we all could be proud of the fighting being done by the Americans and that it was about time we all woke up to the fact that there was a war on.

The city attorney said he thought it would be military suicide to stop when the U. N. troops reach the 38th parallel. He also warned that the world situation is critical and that Russia might decide to step into Turkey at any time.

"Russia is far better prepared than the United States at this time," said the speaker. "She has great military power."

Jacobs said our factories were fast turning to military needs production and that at this time with the Korean war two months old, that the country is in better shape than it was years later during World War II.

The city attorney didn't say he was advocating a change of the secretary of defense but he did say that the law which requires the secretary of defense to have been in civilian life for 10 years before he could take office should be changed.

Jacobs also said he had been informed by a Washington congressman that the military and not the state department was mostly at fault for this country being caught flat footed at the start of the police action" in Korea.

He read part of a letter from the congressman which stated "Our ambassador told us exactly what was going on in Korea but the military didn't do anything about it."

Jacobs also said he believed a leak in information which tipped off coming actions in Korea caused the Communists to start their attack at least 15 days earlier than planned.

He said he believed the U. N. forces would hold and would go forward in Korea and that this time the battle should be fought to the end.

"Until democratic nations rule the world," he added.

Guests at the meeting were Franklin Seale of California; R. W. Knight, Herbert Wilson and L. R. Robertson. Visiting Rotarians included Cliff Cates, Roswell, N. M.; Arthur Kennerly, Houston; the Rev. Albert Bristol, Marion, N. Y.; and Bruce Goodman, Marysville, Calif.

A. V. Farr was introduced as a new member.

Maj. William Carter was program chairman and introduced the speaker.

Corsicana Motorists Are Discovering It's More Expensive To Own Late Car

By DON MORRISSEY
Daily Sun Staff.

The majority of Corsicana motorists, especially those with lower-priced cars, are discovering it's costing more to keep a car in the city. Notification of increased assessed valuations in two of the three groups listed by the city now are being received by vehicle owners.

In general, all models from 1946 through 1950 have been increased $50 in valuation; except group two, which includes seven makes of the higher-than-popular priced automobiles

Increases in assessed valuations were determined by the city's equalization board comprised of Roy Harrison, N. F. Garrett and J. S. Murchison.

A member of the board told the tax assessor's office the raise in valuations was deemed necessary because automobiles are worth more now. However, this doesn't explain why the group two models, weren't increased accordingly.

It also was pointed out that Hudsons were taken from the higher-priced group and placed in group two.

Assessed valuations by year of car for 1949 and 1950 follow:

Group One—Chevrolets, Plymouths, Fords, Nashes:

	1949	1950
1944	$100	$100
1945	125	150
1946	150	200
1947	200	250
1948	250	300
1949	300	350
1950	300	400

Group Two—Studebakers, Dodges, Oldsmobiles Pontiacs, DeSotos, Hudsons, Kaisers, Mercurys:

	1949	1950
1944	$150	$150
1945	200	200
1946	250	250
1947	300	300
1948	350	350
1949	400	400
1950	400	450

Group Three—Buicks, Chryslers, Packards, Lincolns, Cadillacs:

	1949	1950
1944	$250	$250
1945	300	300
1946	350	400
1947	400	450
1948	450	500
1949	500	550
1950	550	600

In general, trucks also were increased $50 in valuation over the 1949 assessment. Willys jeeps were jumped from $250 to $350 for 1949 models.

Livestock Quarantine Is Placed On Parts Of Three North Texas Counties

FORT WORTH, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Parts of three Northeast Texas counties are under a livestock quarantine after an outbreak of anthrax.

The counties—Titus, Franklin, and Hopkins—were named in an order issued by the State Livestock Sanitary Commission Tuesday.

President Harold Hutton of the Oklahoma State Board of Agriculture said guards had been posted by Oklahoma at all bridges over the Red River. Hutton said the guards were instructed not to let in any cattle from the Texas counties of Titus, Hapkins, Franklin, Lamar, Delta, Bowie, Morris, Hunt, Camp and Red river.

Bridges Guarded.

"We've got a guard on every bridge down there" Hutton said. "As far as we know none of the infected animals got into Oklahoma."

The areas affected in Titus, Franklin and Hopkins counties lie north of State Highway 11 and U. S. Highway 67, B. A. Davidson, director of the Livestock Sanitary Commission, said here.

Three Hopkins county officials told the governor's office, which is keeping a close watch on the situation, that livestock losses in their county were estimated at $35,000 to $40,000 since the outbreak. The spokesmen were County Judge Wayne Gee, County Agent Brooks Emmons, and Sheriff Avera Rasure.

The East Texas Chamber of Commerce wired Gov. Allan Shivers urging a livestock quarantine be clamped on parts of five counties.

The chamber said a quarantine of affected areas in Titus, Hopkins, Red River, Franklin and Wood counties would be enough to stem the outbreak, and that it would not be necessary to quarantine all ports of these counties.

William L. McGill, executive secretary to the governor, said the governor's office has been in contact with the Livestock Sanitary Commission since last week. He said the agency feels the situation is being handled satisfactorily.

McGill said the commission reported a corps of supervisors in the anthrax area, headed by Dr. C. A. Kay, nationally known veterinarian.

Hopkins county officials asked the governor for assignment of four or five additional patrolmen to their county for the next five days to help prevent movement of cattle in and out of the quarantined area.
